Meet Marlie Smith, Richmond's New Parks Operations Manager

If you're struggling to keep up with your yard work during these sunny days, consider this: the City of Richmond's Department of Parks, Recreation and Community Facilities oversees more than 40 parks; 92 athletic fields; 136 tennis courts; 49 playground areas; 41 horseshoe pits; 24 walking, nature, bike/and or exercise trails totaling approximately 27 miles; 35 park or playground houses, as well as 13 picnic shelters; 73 basketball courts; two disc golf courses; two boat outputs, and one BMX bike trail. Plus there's Dogwood Dell, the Carillon, and a number of department-supported special events.

That's a lot of grass, trees, trails, dogs, kids and people to keep happy.

Marlaine K. Smith, the city's new Parks Operations Manager takes it all in stride. Marlie joined the city's staff in August 2013. She holds a bachelor's degree in Parks and Recreation from Old Dominion University and is currently enrolled in Virginia Tech's Executive Masters of Natural Resources program, which she'll be finishing up in May 2015. Marlie came to Richmond from James City County where she was Parks Coordinator for Freedom Park, a 600-acre forested facility with more than 20 miles of bike trails and home to the Williamsburg Botanical Garden. Prior to that, she worked with Virginia Cooperative Extension and 4-H.

Marlie doesn't just oversee the care and activities of Richmond's many parks—she enjoys them, too! As a welcome break from her daily work grind and studies, she can be found riding or running the local trails, including and most often, Forest Hill Park.

"As an avid mountain biker, I've experienced numerous trail systems," she says. "I'd have to say the trails within the City of Richmond are top-notch. The pride Richmonders have shown in protecting, building and advocating for the trail system is directly reflected in its unique technical features, lines and daily use."

"I'm honored to come into such a mindful and forward-thinking group of citizens, park users, and staff. I look forward to offering support and contributions to further enhance our unique park assets."

If you'd like to welcome Marlie to her new position as Parks Operations Manager, lend a hand and help improve Forest Hill Park. Join the Friends of Forest Hill Park, learn how to remove invasive species, carry a plastic bag on your walks to pick up litter, and always pick up after your dog! The Department of Parks, Recreation and Community Facilities has a number of volunteer opportunities. Check out Richmondgov.com/parks/VolunteerOpportunities for more information.

Community Caretakers

By Shannon D. Taylor

Mother's Day is fast approaching as I write this article, which makes me think of all the contributions my mother has made to help shape the person I am today. But children aren't raised by mothers alone—fathers, family, and friends also take credit for positively influencing children. Even folks in our extended circle of contacts have a hand in shaping the development of healthy kids. Teachers, principals, librarians, and even lunch ladies and custodians all play important roles. Other role models such as police officers, firefighters and athletic coaches contribute as well. As adults, we remember these caregivers, the ones who had a significant impact on who we were to become. I know I do.

This same nurturing quality, the way residents have loved and cared for our neighborhood over the years, has built Forest Hill into the kind of place where people look out for each other and want to make it the best it can be. For example, do you enjoy reading this newsletter and look forward to its quarterly delivery? Do you brag about neighborhood events to friends and family? Does the sight of the vibrant green Forest Hill house flag waving on the front porch of your friend's house make you smile? Do you look forward to bike rides on the trails or skipping stones in the lake? Or have you taken advantage of historic tax credits now available to us?

All these little perks are a direct result of our friends' and neighbors' hard work and loving care to make this place so charming. Lest I leave someone out (I won't mention specific names, but you know who you are!), thank you so very much to people past and present who volunteered their time to make this area a little bit better for all of us. Thank you for caring about Forest Hill like it is an extension of your family. You could have chosen to do countless other activities with your time and money, but you chose to invest it here at home. We can learn from your example.

All of us are the caretakers of Forest Hill. Through our collective commitment, we can accept the torch from caretakers past and present and continue nurturing the growth of this neighborhood. And just like countless mothers and fathers before us, we can feel enormous love and pride in raising our creation.

Shannon D. Taylor spends as much time as possible in the neighborhood enjoying her family, friends, and all the bits of wonderful that Forest Hill has to offer.

A Message from Our Council Representative

I hope all is well!

Well, that sure was a winter! It looks like spring is coming in like a lion. I realize many of your leaf collections were delayed because of the many snow events we had. While it's frustrating, I appreciate your patience. I do think the city did a great job dealing with the snow, ice, and cold temperatures and is now working hard to catch up with the leaves.

I'm very excited to announce, especially after the tough winter, Forest Hill Avenue (from the Powhite Parkway east to Semmes) and Westover Hills Boulevard (from Riverside Drive south to Forest Hill Avenue) will be paved. The completion date for Forest Hill Avenue will be delayed while the city's Department of Public Utilities replaces a meter and pipeline between Powhite Parkway and Jahnke Road. I'm glad they are doing the repairs before paving.

One of the city's biggest secrets is the Westover Hills Tennis Complex behind Westover Hills Elementary (accessed from Westover Hills Boulevard or Clarence Street). The complex includes tennis courts that were resurfaced last year, designed for adults and children alike. The Department of Parks, Recreation and Community Facilities offers lessons throughout the year. Please call Victor Rizzi at 804-646-1208 for more information.

For golfers and aspiring golfers, The First Tee of Richmond and Chesterfield's Elson Redmond Memorial Golf Facility (400 School Street), along with the Department of Parks, Recreation and Community Facilities, operates a golf driving range, a six-hole par three golf course, as well as golf lessons. The range is open from mid-February to mid-December. Please go to www.thefirstteerichmondchesterfield.org for more information.

Don't forget about the South of the James Market on Saturdays from 8 a.m. until noon at Forest Hill Park. The market is open now until December 6, 2014. Please go to growrva.com for more information.

I invite you to call or stop by my district office at 6948 Forest Hill Avenue to share your ideas, concerns, and discuss issues. It's probably a good idea to call before you stop over. Your involvement with my office has and will continue to be vital to setting policy and providing services that improve our community and quality of life. I value your input. By the way, you can now follow me on Twitter(@kathygraziano). Bear with me as I get acclimated!

The Honorable Kathy Graziano is councilwoman for the Southwest 4th District in Richmond. You can reach her at kathy.graziano@richmondgov.com or 804-320-2454.

Treasure Hunting in the Neighborhood!

Have you been saving up your spare change and "fun" money for Saturday, June 7? If you have, you are all set for the annual Forest Hill Yard Sale which runs from 8 a.m. until noon. More than 20 families from all over Forest Hill have signed up to sell their goods. You will be able to pick up a map of the locations at any of the sales. Signs will also help you find that perfect treasure! For more info, go to the Forest Hill Neighborhood Association website at foresthilneighborhood.com.

Forest Hill Neighborhood Association Community Service Scholarship Deadline July 1

Are you a graduating high school senior who has put your mark on the neighborhood with your volunteer efforts? If you have been serving your community, your efforts have made you eligible for the second annual Forest Hill Neighborhood Association Community Service Scholarship.

Last year's recipient of the scholarship, Kaleigh Thomas, says, "I spent my scholarship money on textbooks and an external hard drive for my laptop so I could back up all my files regularly at school. I also spent some of it on dorm decor." And that's exactly what the scholarship was designed for!

The scholarship deadline this year is July 1, 2014. All materials must be postmarked by that date. The $500 scholarship will be awarded to the recipient by the FHNA during the August 2014 membership meeting.

If you are interested in the Forest Hill Neighborhood Association Community Service Scholarship, you can find all the details and the application on the FHNA website: foresthillneighborhood.com. A full article about the scholarship is in the Spring 2014 issue of the Flyer, also available on the website. If you would like to receive a printed copy of the application in the mail, please send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: FHNA Community Service Scholarship Committee, 4206 Riverside Drive, Richmond, VA 23225. We will send an application back to you. For any other questions, contact foresthillflyer@gmail.com.

At the March meeting, retiring Forest Hill Park supervisor Linwood Seward received congratulations and a gift from the Forest Hill Neighborhood Association presented by Dorna Braswell.

Lil Ronnie's Lonesome Threesome played blues to the delight of the crowd.

The children loved tours of this armored tactical vehicle, part of the SWAT division of Richmond Police Department. This formidable vehicle rolls out whenever the SWAT team is called to hostage situations, armed conflict situations, or bomb calls.

Riverside Outfitters graciously provided free tree-climbing adventures again this year to the delight of young and old.

Jonathan the Juggler, a Forest Hill resident, entertained the crowd with his death-defying tricks. There was fire!

Celebrity Pet—Sage’s Story

As told to Terry Curry

What is your name and the names of your humans?

Hello. My name is Sage and I am the canine daughter of two wonderful human daddies, Steve Martin and Terry Curry. Since adopting my daddies 10 years ago, I have truly lived the life of a princess. I’m given two square meals a day, treats on demand, a bed in almost every room of the house and a day at the doggie spa to get my nails and hair done every two weeks. Life is good for me on West 42nd Street and I would not trade it for anything in the world.

Where and when did you find your home?

I was born in Dinwiddie on March 31, 2004. At 12 weeks old, and being somewhat precocious, I longed for a life in the city. My birth human mentioned my situation to her then co-worker, Steve, who agreed to a meeting and a site inspection of the home. It was love at first sight! The close proximity to the park, river, and Pet Smart drew me in immediately and I knew within my heart I had found my permanent home.

What’s your heritage?

I come from a long line of Virginia Labrador Retrievers. I know this because my entire bloodline is still in Dinwiddie. My siblings have all left the nest and are safe in their new homes, but many of my cousins and relatives still reside on the family farm. Having somewhat of a sedentary farm lifestyle, I’ve heard through the grapevine that many of them are huge—approaching 90 to 100 pounds. I’m so grateful that I have maintained by girlish figure at a mere 49 pounds—the same weight I was at one year old, thank you very much!

What is your favorite toy and/or activity?

My greatest accomplishment was the completion of my first year of charm school (aka doggie boot training camp). It was there that I honed my ball-fetching skills which became my favorite activity in the world. You can catch me any day chasing and fetching the ball in the park, my front yard or down at the river.

What is your best trick?

One of my favorite tricks is to catch an outright fly ball—no bounce—and dutifully bring it back to my daddy for another throw.

What are your best traits?

I love making friends. I often go strolling through the neighborhood hoping to run into my doggie buddies. Some may have an attitude at first, but I always manage to sweeten them up (Yes, Willow, I’m talking about you!). Here is a shout out to all my good friends Griffin, Maxine, Django, Dexter, Buddy, Matilda and Freddie. Of course, I cannot forget my adopted canine and feline siblings Rascal, Suzie Q and Timber....Love you.

What else would you like your admirers to know?

I’ve lived in the Forest Hill area just about my whole life and really cannot say enough about how great my experience has been. The homey feeling of a neighbor’s wave, the delicious squirrel population, and the countless discreet hideaways and nooks for bio breaks just makes my heart sing with joy. Sometimes I feel so at home with my neighbors that I just go right into the open door of a house without an invitation. I know they would not have it any other way (Am I right Django?!). So if you are new to neighborhood, invite me over and let’s be besties!

Terry and Steve have lived in Forest Hill for 15 years and feel the best thing about the neighborhood is the eclectic charm with the variety of architectural styles.

Thanks to Friends of Forest Hill Park's funding, the Virginia Bluebird Society was able to add three new nest boxes in Forest Hill Park for a total of 10! Pictured (l to r) are Scott Dysart, Jake Dysart, Sam Kemp, Brandon Dysart and Mick Hastings. Other volunteers (not pictured) who monitor the blue bird houses are Viv Bruzzese, Vincent Revene, Sarah McClellan, Alicia St. John, and Jerry Wyatt.

Jake Dysart and Sam Kemp, members of Friends of Forest Hill Park Junior discovered the first bluebird nest of the season. This particular box remained empty all last year, so they were delighted to find new residents!

Critter Stories!

In the spring issue of Forest Hill Flyer, we asked you to regale us with your fabulous critter stories. Of the people who responded, these two folks were chosen to win a Forest Hill tee shirt! Congrats to them, and if you have a critter story, please send it along to foresthillyer@gmail.com. There may be more tee shirts in the offing....

From Mary McNeil on Riverside Drive

As I was having breakfast one morning, my dog Farley and I jumped because something hit an upstairs window—very, very hard. We looked out onto the deck and there was a mallard duck staggering. He sat down very deliberately. I had to place Farley in his crate in order to check on the duck. The duck made his way up onto the deck railing and sat for a while before flying off. Strange sight—staggering mallard on the deck! Love our city house in the country of our Forest Hill neighborhood!

From E. Mason Adams on Springhill Avenue

Nobody seems to like possums, and that's too bad, because we have a lot of them in our neighborhood. This is the story of four former marsupial residents of Forest Hill.

One afternoon in early spring the dog had proudly—and loudly—cornered something in the backyard. Man of the House brought the dog inside, went to check on the situation and soon returned with a tiny, wobbly, baby possum. A few days earlier our neighbor had moved his woodpile and this baby joey must have been one of the displaced residents!

If left on his own, this little critter was destined to become a dog or cat toy, so we decided that we could not wait for the possible return of Mom. Since we were not able to locate a wildlife rehabilitation person in the area (this was pre-internet), we considered it was our duty to keep the baby safe until he could fend for himself. After that, the plan was to release the possum on a friend's wooded farm in

Varina...far, far away from our yard. (See Author's Note below!)

It was fortunate that we had a large hamster cage in the attic, because within an hour, baby possum number two was found! We named the pair Laurel and Hardy. The next day the neighbor across the alley gingerly brought us baby possum number three. So they became Manny, Moe and Jack. The following day, baby possum number four arrived at our backdoor, courtesy of another neighbor. At which time we stopped giving them names and simply referred to them as "the wild bunch." We were careful not to be too friendly, just to feed and maintain them.

While not exactly attractive animals, on a small scale they are kind of cute. And we gained a new appreciation of possums. Each one had his (or her) own personality. When we approached the cage to feed them, one would immediately strike the classic "play dead" pose. Another would hiss. The third would open his mouth and show us his fierce array of tiny teeth. The fourth simply glared at us with his beady black eyes. It was quite a humorous display!

In a little over a week, the babies' coats had filled out, they were becoming experienced climbers, and it was time to say goodbye to Forest Hill. We took them to Varina, where at the edge of the woods we opened the cage and the four babies scrambled off, without so much as a thank you or a look back. Frankly, we were glad to see them go.

There's plenty of wildlife in our neighborhood, so if you're ever faced with a passel of homeless possums or injured wildlife, help is available. Contact Animal Services of Richmond-Richmond Wildlife Center in Midlothian at Richmondwildlife.org or 804-378-2000.

Author's Note: According to the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries, it is illegal in the Commonwealth of Virginia to trap and relocate a wild animal to another location. If you turn me in, you'll have to find one of the possums to testify against me. Otherwise, consider this a work of fiction. E.M.A.

Neighborhood 5K a Success!

The 2014 Run for the Hills 5K race on March 22, 2014 drew more than 200 runners, walkers, and strollers who wanted to spend a spring morning running for a good cause...our neighborhood! As volunteers marked the course, cheered on the runners and offered cold drinks at the finish line, the participants enjoyed the scenery as they ran through the streets of Forest Hill and Forest Hill Park. The Forest Hill Neighborhood Association raised $4,000 from this year's run to help finance neighborhood projects. Thanks to all who made this day a success!

Celebrating the accomplishment!

Two- and four-legged runners alike loved the race.

Owen Eklund was winner in the Kid's category. Yay, Owen!

On your mark, get set, go!

Hey sisters, go sisters!

Suzette Lyon Earns Community Service Award

Suzette Lyon, Forest Hill resident and a member of Reedy Creek Coalition and Richmond Tree Stewards, goes above and beyond in her dedication to improving the environment. Her work with Reedy Creek Coalition has helped the Forest Hill neighborhood be more aware of stormwater best management practices (BMPs) like rain gardens, rain barrels, and conservation landscaping. The BMPs installed so far have kept one million gallons of stormwater from entering the Reedy Creek and the James River.

Through her "Get the Ivy Out of Richmond" movement, she has helped the effort to remove invasive species and protect our river and park habitats. In March 2014, she partnered with Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, Chesapeake Bay Foundation, James River Association, Middle James Roundtable and the City of Richmond to conduct two trainings on how to remove invasive species. She has also produced several popular Native Plant Workshops held in the neighborhood to help home owners protect the environment with their voice and hands.

For these community efforts and others, Suzette earned a Community Partnership Award through the James River Advisory Council.

"This award shows the good things Richmond Tree Stewards and Reedy Creek Coalition are doing," Suzette says. "I am just a part of the effort."

Congratulations and thanks for all you and your organizations do for the neighborhood and the community, Suzette!

Community Service Opportunity for Neighborhood Youth

Friends of Forest Hill Park Junior is a group of middle and high school students who are interested in promoting Forest Hill Park and keeping it clean. The members of the group participate in a variety of activities including:

- Helping with Forest Hill Park clean ups
- Running the Halloween Howl
- Hosting a craft table at Sunday in the Park with Friends
- Maintaining the Little Free Library near the tot lot
- Helping children with crafts at Victorian Christmas
- Monitoring the Blue Bird Trails

Most schools allow the Friends of Forest Hill Park Junior activities to count toward community service. Please contact lauradysart@verizon.net if you are interested in becoming involved with this community youth group that is administer by the Friends of Forest Hill Park Board.
