Know Your Neighbor: Robin Cage – Art with Heart

By Judith Warrington

One of our best known neighbors does not actually reside in the neighborhood, but spends most of her waking hours here. For the past 30 years, Robin Cage has been the owner and resident artist of the 43rd Street Gallery.

Robin was recently named a Virginia Master Artisan by the Artisans Center of Virginia (ACV). The award recognizes excellence in design and craftsmanship, and the mentoring, training and apprenticeship of young artists. The time-honored tradition of learning from a master craftsman is still alive in the potter's art.

"I studied as an apprentice for two years with John Friemarck and a year in Vermont," said Robin. And now she is passing that knowledge on, linking the past to the present, through her own students.

But it may come as a surprise to learn that such a gifted potter did not start out to be an artist. Originally from Halifax, Virginia, she grew up in a home where her father was an artist and sculptor, and she did "a little" art in high school. As an undergrad studying social sciences at The College of William and Mary, her other activities included tennis, and there was no time to explore studio art classes. But all that changed.

"I was in graduate school in Ohio studying sociology when I saw a potter working at a wheel, and that was the start," said Robin.

Today Robin works exclusively in stoneware, a high-fired clay that creates beautiful, durable items. In her workshop in the back of the gallery, orderly rows of wheel-thrown mugs, bowls and plates are drying before being glazed and fired. Many of her design elements are influenced by nature. Trees, winged insects and birds appear frequently in the soft and earthy glaze on her pieces.

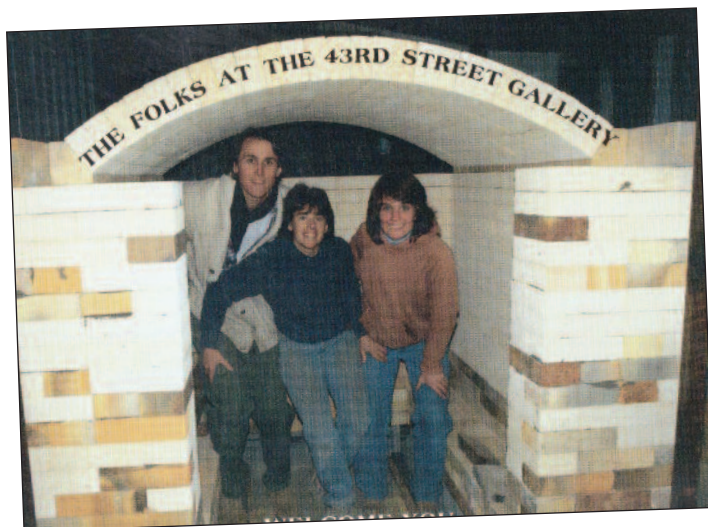

"Because I fire at cone 10 (2,300 degrees F) the color range is determined by the clay and the firing temperature. So you won't see any vibrant reds in my work," she said.

Since 1985, the gallery has been an important part of Robin's life. That's when the retail-zoned building that was formerly Uncle Earl's Trash and Treasure was up for sale. Part of the building was boarded up, the floor was shaky, and rain came in through the roof. After a lot of repair and rebuilding it became the 43rd Street Gallery, a potter's workshop, and a cornerstone of the neighborhood. For the past 20-some years, Jan Hampton's violin shop has been tucked away around the side of the gallery.

For Robin, having the ability to sell her work where she works, rather than selling exclusively at shows, gives structure and stability to her life. In addition to her pottery, the gallery features the varied work of 20 to 25 local artists, including several from the neighborhood. Robin produces items for sale in other galleries, does special orders, and teaches students at the shop. Approximately every six weeks she loads and fires up

Robin at her wheel.

Potters Lee Hazelgrove, Robin, and Diana Cole collaborated to build the large kiln at the 43rd Street Gallery in 1985.

It's Your Neighborhood. Join Us!

By Shannon D. Taylor

The Forest Hill Neighborhood Association is working hard to host another fun year for you. Our flagship events are on track to provide you, your families and your friends with opportunities to engage neighbors, meet new people and become part of our close-knit, friendly neighborhood. Our annual 5K spring fun run is slated for April 11, 2015 - this is a change as the previously scheduled date fell on Easter weekend. Ask anyone who has participated in years past and you'll find this race is family and dog friendly, and a low-key way to get out and explore the neighborhood. Brunch parties abound after the race as people reload on carbs lost while running or walking. Volunteers high-five each other as they embrace the positive vibes that come with contributing back to the neighborhood. Don't miss this great event—either by volunteering (we need lots of help!) or signing up for the race. Plans are also in the works for the Trash to Cash annual yard sale, Music in the Park, and the Forest Hill Fall Fest.

Our association meetings are a great way to learn about current events in both the neighborhood and city. During meetings we receive updates from our city representatives on topics ranging from school issues, water and gas rates, trash and recycling pick-ups, leaf collection, gas line construction and road improvements. Yes, we send out email blasts and neighborhood Facebook updates, but if you want to hear the news first, join us every third Tuesday at the Forest Hill Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m.

The monthly FHNA meetings are also a great way to rally neighborhood support on important issues. One single voice is not as strong as a unified or majority front from our association, which represents more than 700 homes. For example, we have voted on significant issues such as continuing to support the South of the James Market location in the park, while voicing concern for the traffic impact on nearby neighbors. We have opposed certain city traffic and engineering plans for Forest Hill Avenue such as the proposed circle at Roanoke Avenue. Every year there are important issues to address as a neighborhood, and the FHNA is the best way to get our voices heard. Thanks to all of you who have joined the association, debated issues, and helped shape the positions that represent all of us. Join the FHNA so you too can vote on vital issues that concern us all.

One final plug for attending the meetings—we've got great guest speakers lined up! Tom Silvestri, the president and publisher of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, will join us on March 17, 2015 to talk about the importance of neighborhood newsletters and regional newspapers in today's digital age. In April, we'll enjoy a cooking demonstration (and samples!) from neighbor-owned Victory Farms, using fresh produce from their farm.

I hope to see you there!

Shannon is busy lining up more interesting speakers for FHNA meetings, and daydreaming about her spring garden.

A Message from Our Council Representative

Dear Neighbor,

I hope all is well! So far it's been an uneventful winter. I hope I didn't just jinx it.

The leaf collection this season has not been very good. I will continue to talk with DPW to see how we can do better. Their goal was to complete the first cycle in all areas the first week in February. Please let us know if you have not had your leaves picked-up.

On a very exciting note, the NEW Huguenot High School opened in January. What a beautiful building!

While the gas main replacement in Forest Hill Avenue (from the Powhite Parkway east to Jahnke Road) is taking longer than expected, I do think they are making progress. We're hoping for completion in the spring. As soon as they are finished, Forest Hill Avenue will be paved.

I wanted to let you know, to our surprise, the City of Richmond's Department of Public Utilities (DPU) will be undertaking water main work in preparation for the Forest Hill Avenue Project (from Powhite Parkway to Hathaway Road) starting March 1, 2015. We were under the impression work would not be starting until spring 2016. Here is a statement from the Department of Public Utilities:

"Water main work will be performed on Forest Hill Ave. This will affect both eastbound and westbound traffic while the crossing is performed. Each intersection will take approximately 10-15 days. All signs will conform with V.D.O.T. specifications as jobs done on State Projects. Police will be on site to assist in traffic control. This work will begin March 1, 2015 and will be done during normal business hours (9 a.m.-4 p.m.) weather permitting, and will take approximately two to three months to complete this stage of the project."

We will continue to pass on information as we get it. Don't hesitate to call with any questions.

South of the James Winter Market continues Saturdays from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. through April 25, 2015.

Real Estate Tax Relief for the elderly and disabled is available for Richmond residents who qualify. Applicants must be 65 years or older, or disabled at any age, property owner living at property, have a gross income of less than $50,000 for 2014, and have a total net worth of less than $200,000 (excludes the house and land they live in/on). Applications are being accepted until March 31, 2015 and can be accessed through the Department of Finance site at richmondgov.com/Finance/index.aspx, by calling 311, or my district office.

I invite you to call or stop by my district office at 6948 Forest Hill Avenue to share your ideas, concerns, and discuss issues. It's probably a good idea to call before you stop over. Your involvement with my office has and will continue to be vital to setting policy and providing services that improve our community and quality of life. I value your input. By the way, you can now follow me on Twitter(@kathygraziano).

the shop's propane-powered kiln. She and two other potters built the large kiln which can hold 100-plus pieces at a time.

About the time that the gallery started, Robin and other local potters became aware of the Empty Bowls Project, an international grassroots effort to fight hunger. Potters and other craft people were holding fundraising soup dinners in which donors could take their bowls home as a reminder of all the empty bowls in the world. The local potters held an Empty Bowls event for the former Freedom House, and Robin said the organization was overwhelmed by the idea that someone would do that for them. That idea of supporting Freedom House meshed with the potters' desire to hold a small, well-juried show for local Richmond artists. The 43rd Street Festival was born.

In 1991 the first 43rd Street Festival was held in the parking lot of Good Shepherd with, as Robin described it, "a handful of artists, one food vendor, and a musician who played all day." Because Freedom House ceased operations a few years ago, the festival now benefits CARITAS, an organization that provides lasting solutions that help individuals and families break the cycles of homelessness and addiction to reclaim their dignity.

Robin gratefully acknowledges Good Shepherd Episcopal School and the gallery's neighbors for their support for the festival over the past almost 24 years. Its impact has reached beyond art. "People have told me that they found the Forest Hill area because of the festival and moved here," she said.

Even after 30 years, Robin says she is not ready to retire. Few artists ever do!

"I hope to one day bring in a potter to take over the gallery. At least that's what I'm putting out to the universe for the next 10 years," she says. In the meantime, another load of pottery is ready for the kiln and the next festival to benefit the city's hungry and homeless is only seven months away.

"It's especially important to me to make something people use and treasure in a throwaway society; to feel real," says the potter, teacher, gallery owner, and benefit/festival organizer, who is still deep-down, a sociologist at heart.

Judith Warrington is a long-time resident of Forest Hill and can see the 43rd Street Gallery from her front door.

Register Now for the Forest Hill 5K!

Registration is open for the Forest Hill Neighborhood Association's 2015 Forest Hill Run for the Hills 5K. The fun run (not timed) will take place on Saturday, April 11 beginning at 9 a.m. Proceeds will support neighborhood projects.

This is our seventh annual 5K and it is a fabulous day throughout the neighborhood. The race begins and ends at the Stone House in Forest Hill Park and travels through the park and the surrounding neighborhood. Registration for the race is $25. The entry fee includes a race tee shirt if you sign up by April 1. (No joke!) If you sign up after April 1, or on the day of the event, we cannot guarantee you a tee shirt. Sizes are available to fit most participants. Prizes will be awarded for the fastest woman, man, kiddo and doggy.

Don't miss this great opportunity to be a part of a fun run (or walk or stroll.) We enthusiastically welcome volunteers to help with jobs such as finish line assistant, trail monitor, and cheering voice. Volunteers will be rewarded with a 5K tee shirt and good karma. Please contact foresthillassoc@gmail.com for more information.

As with the 2014 run, we are using a trusted partner, Racelt! to handle our online registration. Go to the Forest Hill Neighborhood Association website at foresthillneighborhood.com for registration details and payment information.

FHNA Meetings to Feature Guest Speaker and Cooking Demonstration

Join us at the March 17, 2015 membership meeting to hear guest speaker Thomas A. Silvestri, president and publisher of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. He's advanced in his profession as a stringer, reporter, copy/line editor, business editor, deputy managing editor, division staff executive, the president of a community newspaper group, publisher of a mid-size newspaper, vice president of a regional group and a Sunday columnist. In Richmond, he's mostly known for the Richmond Times-Dispatch's engagement initiative called the Public Square, which has been hailed by the community for demonstrating civil public conversations on important topics.

He's learned the importance of resilience after going through complicated mergers, the surprise sale of his long-time employer, many product launches, innovations, reductions in workforce, countless system changes, a major fire at a production plant, an earthquake and violent weather that disrupted operations at inopportune times.

His distinctions include induction into Virginia

Commonwealth University's Virginia Communications Hall of Fame, alumnus of the year from VCU, Pace University and Leadership Metro Richmond, and top leadership positions in community, regional, and national groups. The first in his family to earn a college degree, he continues to learn every day.

On April 21, 2015, the FHNA will welcome our neighbor Gina Collins of Victory Farms to share a delicious recipe created from their Certified Naturally Grown produce. The Collins family has served the Richmond area since 2007. Their farm is just outside the city limits, a mere 4.5 miles from downtown Richmond. Farmer Charlie Collins has more than 20 years of experience in the field. He tends his fields himself with the utmost care, using only natural methods and custom compost. Victory Farms grows a wide array of heirloom and Mediterranean varieties of your favorite vegetables, greens, herbs, and summer fruits. Come enjoy the fruits of their labors and sample a nutritious treat made from some of the healthiest produce around.

The Forest Hill Neighborhood Association meets the third Tuesday of each month, except for July.
All meetings begin at 7 p.m. at the Forest Hill Presbyterian Church, 4401 Forest Hill Avenue.

Celebrity Pet Caesar

By Colleen Dee and Howie Hall

What is your name and the name of your human?

My name is Caesar. I have been called Skeezer, Sleestack, Dog2, and Seizure by one lady at the apartment where I used to live. My human is Colleen and there's a man, Howie, who smells like cats, who comes over. He cooks a lot. I sort of like him; and definitely better when he has a piece of bacon in his hand.

Where and when did you find your home?

Colleen adopted me when my previous human, Alfred Lightfoot, went out to a farm in the country where he could run and play all day long. I miss him, but I am loving life on W. 42nd Street!

What's your heritage?

I am 100 percent purebred All-American Bucktooth Hound. I look like a cattle dog and I am maintaining my red-on-white-colored coat into my 15th year.

What is your favorite toy and/or activity?

I like to chew on teddy bears and catnip mice. There are toys everywhere, even cats. My BFF is my roommate, Buddy. When I met Buddy at Forest Hill Park three years ago, I knew I had to live with him. We watch sports while the humans aren't around. My favorite activity is going for a WALK, and don't try to spell it, I'm on to you.

What is your best trick?

I am good at moving food out of Buddy's bowl into mine when he isn't looking.

Caesar (right) and his BFF Buddy couldn't be happier to live on W. 42nd St.

What are your best traits?

I am loyal and listen well to commands, got the sit trick down. I have learned to be respectful of the kitties that live with me. The fat cat is slow and no problem, but the little ninja kitty keeps me on my toes. She's the boss.

What else would you like your admirers to know?

I love walking around the hood, the James River, Forest Hill Park and the Lake, Hollywood Cemetery, and anywhere there are squirrels. Every time I see Jerry Jones on TV, I voice my displeasure.

Colleen gardens on W. 42nd Street and has since 2000. Howie peddles comics and toys from Oregon Hill.

Mark your calendars!

Loving an Old Forest Hill Home

By Alexis Morehouse Thompson

We're the Thompsons—rescue dog adopters, child wranglers, once-in-awhile runners, and home renovators. We are on our third home restoration project in six years, the last two being right here in Forest Hill—a 1950s colonial brick beauty and a 1920s stucco American Four Square.

We moved into the brick beauty while expecting baby #1 and proceeded to paint, landscape, demo walls and remodel a kitchen all before Little-Miss-Dog-Tail-Puller could say, "Hammer." Not the easiest thing to do with an infant—note Willy's lack of hair. After all the blood, sweat and teething, we thought we might never leave our sweet home by the river. Yet somehow we found ourselves moving two years later to our current home...this time when Alexis was eight months pregnant with Little-Miss-Eardrum-Tester.

A well-loved home only four blocks away had the architectural character we had dreamed about. We jumped right to work. In our family, power tool lessons begin in utero. But in one fell swoop we blew out the electrical system with the orbital sander, a neighbor broke his ankle as he fell through an old coal grate in the floor, and we all had to evacuate when a gas leak joined the party. Did we mention Alexis was eight months pregnant? And we had a toddler? (Willy loses more hair.) The realities of a 94-year-old house hit home when it took somewhere in the neighborhood of ten weeks to install beautiful, 100-year-old salvaged front doors, and even longer to finish exterior painting and siding. We did not meet our pre-birth goal for Phase One renovations. Instead, we returned home with a newborn as the painters awkwardly applauded while backing up slowly.

Despite the questionable decisions, and less than ideal timing, we have a passion (read: unhealthy obsession) for paint sticks, power tools and old houses. Our girls still fall asleep to the lullaby of the belt sander and yard work often becomes family backyard adventure parties.

We sometimes wonder, "Should we post a 'pardon our dust' sign in the yard?" or "Should we tell the neighbors that we promise the deck will not remain unfinished forever?" But overall, everyone has been lovely and we enjoy talking to all of the joggers, dogwalkers and farmers-market shoppers as we pile HardiePlank in the backyard or refinish hand-me-down furniture on the porch. We get many of the same questions, usually having to do with who our contractors are, or what projects we're working on. One couple even asked if they could come in and see the massive 10-foot by 14-foot, 1960s map of Richmond on our dining room wall (really, it's what sold us on the house).

So in the spirit of sharing, we're going to post fun house updates on Alexis' real estate blog along with other stories of our home renovation adventures. We've only just begun on house number three, so stay tuned for three bathroom renos, a kitchen overhaul, fence building and DIY projects on a shoestring budget!

Alexis has backpacked all over the world, but now finds adventure in rescuing dogs and 90-year-old homes. When she isn't working on her own house, she helps others buy and sell theirs. You can reach her at RichmondRenos.com.

Victory Farms Serves from New Location

Our local urban farmstead is settling in at a new location. Victory Farms will now be selling their Certified Naturally Grown produce, beef and eggs at Forest Hill Presbyterian Church.

This year is Victory Farms' 20th season of growing amazing quality vegetables, greens, herbs, and vining fruits—and they look forward to growing more great food for you this season! Winter hours are dependent on weather, but you can sign up for their mailing list at VictoryFarmsInc.com to keep updated on their progress, or find them on Facebook.

Victory Farms is accepting applications for CSA members. Your CSA share allows for complete flexibility by choosing your own produce and then using a debit system—your $500- or $350-share fee is debited at your own pace throughout the 24-week growing season. This is a $20/week (or $15/week) rate that is very manageable and appropriate for families, couples, singles, or even share splitting. Plus, CSA members receive 10 percent off all season long!

Facilitating Democracy in Forest Hill

By Robley Jones

We are most fortunate in Forest Hill to have voting precinct 402 in our neighborhood. This precinct, one of the largest in Richmond, is nestled in our neighborhood at the Forest Hill Presbyterian Church at W. 44th Street and Forest Hill Avenue.

It appears that both parties may have primaries on June 9, 2015 to determine their nominee for the seat of State Senator John Watkins (State Senate District 10), who is retiring at the end this term. In addition, on November 3, 2015, we will elect our representatives to the Virginia House of Delegates and the State Senate.

Would you like to volunteer to work the polls? The day is long—you must report at 5 a.m. and may not get home until after 8 p.m. But what a day it is! You get to see your neighbors as you perform a civic duty essential to our democracy. A small stipend that varies depending on the duties you assume is provided. If you would like to help, please contact Chief Election Officer Robley Jones at robleyj@aol.com, or 804-233-3748.

If you are not registered to vote, you can register online at vote.virginia.gov/ or use the link to secure a voter registration form at tinyurl.com/q2xm6q4.

"The vote is the most powerful instrument ever devised by man for breaking down injustice and destroying the terrible walls which imprison men because they are different from other men."

Volunteer to Help Friends of Forest Hill Park

Sunday in the Park is April 19, 2015

Come celebrate the tenth year of Sunday in the Park sponsored by Friends of Forest Hill Park! This event is one of the most popular in our neighborhood and is a wonderful opportunity for neighbors to gather with their children. Listen to music, create crafts, enjoy the puppet shows and the juggler, and come home with a painted face and a balloon hat. Put April 9, 2015, noon to 6 p.m. on your calendar!

It requires many hands to put this event together. We would love to have your input and suggestions planning the event. Or if you would rather volunteer on the day, you could help distribute water and cookies, oversee crafts, or set up and take down—meeting and chatting with neighbors in the process.

If you are interested in showing some neighborhood love, please attend the next meeting of Friends of Forest Hill Park on March 19, 2015 at 7 p.m. in the Stone House in Forest Hill Park. Or contact Carolyn Paulette at 804-232-6644 or cmp4312@yahoo.com.

Also! Elizabeth Watkins Morris from Halloway House in Petersburg will show her collection of original and reproduction women's clothing dating from 1855-1865. She will explore the design, construction, and purpose of 19th century garments as compared to modern fashion. Her display will be in the Stone House from noon to p.m. Presentations will be at 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, and 4:30 p.m.

Westover Hills United Methodist Church Preschool Accepting Applications

Westover Hills United Methodist Church is pleased to announce its new preschool program opening to families with children ages 2 ½ to 5 years old in September 2015. It is the goal of Westover Hills Preschool to provide our families with a convenient, high quality, and developmentally-appropriate preschool home for their child.

Applications are available at our website westoverhillspreschool.org. Registration for the 2015-2016 school year is already underway and will continue on a rolling basis throughout the spring. For further information regarding the curriculum, the enrollment/registration process, or any other program-related questions, contact Michele Zipperer at mazipp@verizon.net or 804-232-1769.

Forest Hill Neighborhood Association Continues Community Service Scholarship

Are you a graduating high school senior who has put your mark on the neighborhood with your volunteer efforts? Perhaps you worked to clean up Reedy Creek, judged the annual Halloween Howl, or delivered the Forest Hill Flyer on your street. Maybe you volunteered at the Westover Hills Library, set up bluebird boxes, or helped your elderly neighbor by taking his supercan to the curb each week.

If you have been serving your community in those ways, or in any others, your efforts have made you eligible for the third annual Forest Hill Neighborhood Association Community Service Scholarship.

"We have so many wonderful students who contribute to our neighborhood!" says Shannon Taylor, president of the FHNA. "A financial gift to further their education is a small token of our appreciation. I hope this opportunity inspires more volunteerism and community involvement by students of all ages!"

The annual scholarship is an award of $500 presented to a graduating senior who lives in the Forest Hill neighborhood and who plans to attend college or a post-secondary institution. The selection process is based on an application; original answers to essay questions, including details and documentation of service to the community; a letter of recommendation from a non-relative who knows the applicant and is familiar with his or her service to the community; and a copy of a letter of acceptance from the college the applicant plans to attend. Once awarded, the scholarship may be used for any college-related necessities.

The scholarship deadline this year is July 1, 2015. All materials must be postmarked by that date. The money will be awarded to the scholarship recipient by the FHNA during the August 2015 membership meeting. The selection committee will be determined every year and will consist of between three and five members of the FHNA executive board. The decision of the selection committee is final.

If you are interested in the Forest Hill Neighborhood Association Community Service Scholarship, the application can be printed from the FHNA website: foresthillneighborhood.com. If you would like to receive a printed copy of the application in the mail, please send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: FHNA Community Service Scholarship Committee, 4206 Riverside Drive, Richmond, VA 23225. We will send an application back to you. For any other questions, contact foresthillflyer@gmail.com.
